

3

Parasite

By: Tate W.

Sometimes in life, you have to focus on the things that are awful instead of cheery. One example of this is parasites – you just can't avoid them. Especially if these parasites target a certain host...

Someone left the door open today. Though i want to yell at them, i have to stay quiet. Overall, my experience was quite horrible, and i was depressed. Remember when i had a guinea pig? Man, those were the good days. Whenever i think of him, i cry. Or, i cry when i meet with my therapist again. Remembering back to my guinea pig, he was kinda ugly. Much like a rat, really. Conversations with my therapist still goes On and on, the Ninth time with her, it took Five hours! I mean Come on! although, Kristen was always an Energetic therapist. never mind that, i Really have to worry about my goldfish, edward BRONTO. that's because he stares at me like i've murdered someone, Kristen might hear about this again.

from: I LOVE YOU!

to: i don't care.